

Festival and Events Pop Up Advice Clinics for Kilkenny

---

This month sees the return of the annual AOIFE (Association of Festival and Events) Pop Up Advice Clinics to engage with the 50 plus Festivals and event organisers in the County.

AOIFE's Executive Director and Communications Assistant will be traversing the Country again this season in an effort to meet local member festival and event organisers. Modelled on other Network offerings – the Pop Up Advice Clinics are facilitated locally to allow organisers to meet AOIFE personnel and get a steer on some of their problems.

Founded in 1993- the Association of Irish Festivals and Events Association is the fourth largest in Europe (with over 250 members) and through training networking and advocating best practice helps “not for profit festivals” reach and expand their local and international goals.

The Clinics will deal with:

- Funding and Grant Applications
- Setting up a new Festival / Event
- Revenue and Sponsorship Opportunities
- Leader and Cluster support
- Risk/ Health and Safety and Insurance issues
- Social Media Mentoring
- European Networking Opportunities
- Regional Connections, Contacts and General Troubleshooting.

Participants MUST register with the AOIFE Secretariat in advance to book at 30 minute consultation during the time the team are there. The Advice Clinic Service is Free to AOIFE members and non-members must pay a small fee of €50 which can go towards purchasing a full AOIFE membership.

Priority will be given to member Festivals of AOIFE but it's hoped the programme will give a chance for newer Festivals and Events in the non – profit sector to meet first hand with the Senior Team.

Over 40 locations in 19 counties will be completed before Easter. Remaining counties will be visited by mid June. - affording all festival and event organisers an ideal opportunity to meet and discuss face to face issues confronting their festival and event.
